DID BIG BUSINESS

WEEK CLOSED WAS THE BEST IN A GOOD MANY YEARS.

Merchants All Are Happy Over the Results and Favor Permanent Es-Spent Their Money Liberally and Got Bargains in Return.

At 10 o'clock last night the general business of Wichlta ceased. It was the close of the heaviest volume of business trans-acted in the city for five years. Merchants and salesmen were all weary but they were happy. The first six days in October 1804, will long be remembered as "the" week for business of the Peerless Princess.

The great state fair, the first state fair ever held in Southern Kansas, was closed successfully. It was a success in every respect. Not only were all visitors well pleased with the entertainment given, but pleased with the entertainment given, but they had interviewed the merchants as well. As a result of the thousands who had visited the city for the first time a representative of the EAGLE was detailed.

Famous Clothing House—You should representative of the EAGLE was detailed to visit the wholesale and leading merrepresentative of the Eagle was detailed to visit the wholesale and leading merchants as to the trade of the week. The result was ascertained that the trade of the city had been the largest for any week in five years. The bank deposits of the merchants were about 100 per cent larger than any previous week. The wholesale houses were next visited, and all were seen that it was possible to reach, it was not the desire or intention to miss any, but when it is considered that there are over ninety firms in Wichita it will be seen to their list during the week. True as ers to their list during the week. True as being able to care for more travelting people than soy city in the west, but during the week capacity was fully tested and the old plan of placing cots on the floor was again adopted. The livery stable men had revery conveyance in use and did a larger business during the week than they had fransacted for two months previous. The botels, restaurants, grocery, hardware, saddleries, trunk factors, foundrymen and implement desiers all resped a great buriness men of a city. The state fair was all implement desiers all resped a great barvest during the week, as well as other places of business.

The dry goods and clothing houses were the recipients of a bountial patronage, and they were visited and asked in reference thereto and gave the following answers to questions propounded:

C. G. Cotan, Boston Store—it has been the gireatest week by 160 per cent during the time we have been in business in Wichita. We added a large extra fore to our corps of clerks, but we were unable to handle the trade even then. There was cone remarkable, as well as pleasing feature, about the customers, they asked the price and made the purchases without the exchange of many words. The customers about the eustomers, they asked the price and made the purchases without the exchange of many words. The customers were new ones and were brought to the city by the state fair. Munson & McNamara—a week we have ever had. There was a perfect throng. We were taxed to the utterment to bandle the great volume of business. I wish you would just say that if the clerks of this establishment are late at church tomorrow they have a good excuse. By all means the state fair should be made permanent. I wish it would come three times a year.

Innex & Ross—It has been a great week. The customers were new ones and the trading was brisk and of a pleasing nature. We are great friends of the state fair at such a favorable time as the past week has been. We did a large business, in fact the house was filled all week with outside merchants, and we men our customers face to face. Let the fair and appreciate that it is of great advantage to the city.

the railroads, and the state fair being in progress. Wichita was visited during the week by a large number of merchants who placed their first order here. They combined business with pleasure and visited the wholesale houses and took an inventory of their stock, the prices suited and the orders were given. Heace Wichita will feel the advantage of the meeting for many days to come, and the energetic menergaged in the wholesale trade have nothing but praise for the men who have given their valuable time and their money to establish Kansas state fair at Wichita, where it paturally belones. They are enthusiastic that the organization shall be made permanent.

Wichita has long borne the reputation of being able to care for more travelling people than any city in the west, but during the week capacity was fully tested and the old plan of placing cots on the floor was again adopted. The livery stable men had every conveyance in use and did a larger business during the week than they had returned to the state fair was like bread cast upon the waters—business during the week than they had return that the lieal cook stoves and the Home Oak were manufactured in Wichita, and we took a large number of orders. The children were admitted free and no charge was made for the grand stand privilege. The wind was very high and the air was full of dust, but it would be worse were it not for the rain of the previous night. The races were very good. Notwithstanding the wind the bicycle races were very fair.

The exciting feature of the day, however, was the race between hose companier. Nos. I and 2 of the Wichita fire department. At the half mile pole the famous blacks and whites were lined up and given the start. They went like a cyclone, and although the blacks were the favorites the whites beat them nearly forty feet and the crew made the coupling at the hydrant first.
